THE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1888. Official Organ of Saline County and the City of Salina.

Gov. MARTIN, as a result of his Investigations concerning destitution along the Kansas frontier, finds | Enterprise says: "Uties lies in one that there is a strip of country south | finest townships of Ness county, and of the Arkansas river, bordering on a nicer place to build a town could the Indian Territory, and extending from the west line of Barber county the drouth of last summer was especially severe. The people of this region are nearly all new settlers, who came with limited means, and the failure to raise crops left them in very destitute circumstances. The twelve counties in the extreme southwestern portion of the state, and lying south of Meade and Gray counties, seem to have been favored with more rain, and to be in a better condition than the other new counties mentioned above. The governor has had no appeals for aid from any of these twelve southwestern counties lying south of the Atchisen, Topeka & Santa Fe road, mainly west of the lülst meridan. The govvernor is fully convinced however, that there are a large number of citizens in southwestern Kansas, principally in the section of country referred to, who are greatly in need of seed for planting crops in the spring, and of supplies of provisions. they can grow corn.

Ax old soldier hands the Ft. Scott Monitor the following extract from the rebel Admiral Semmes' book on the rebellion, and remarks that it is appropriate $100,000 to erect statues calculated to make a man vote the in Washington City to the memory Republican ticket, right or wrong:

My camp was astonished one morning by the report that Abraham Lincoln, president of the United States, was dead. He had gone to a small theater in the city of Washington on the evening of Good Friday, and had been shot by a madman. It seemed like a just retribution that he should be cut off in the midst of the hosannas that were being elevated in his vary for all the ing shouted in his ears for all th destruction and ruin he had wrought upon twelve millions of people. Without any warrant for his conduct, he had made a war of rapine and lust against eleven sovereign states, whose only provocation had been that they had made an effort to preserve the liberties which had been handed down to them by their fathers. These had not sought war, but peace, and they had found at the hands of Abraham Lincoln destruction. As a christian, It was my duty to say, "Lord have mercy on his soul, but the d-1 will surely take care of his memory.

THE Washington correspondent of the Kansas City Times relates the following:

The name of Senator Ingalls bring to mind an incident worthy of special mention. No one would have supposed that the Kansas semtor with the sharp and incisive tongue, who is reported to be severe to a degree, not only as a republican partisan but in the general capacity of senatorial wrangler, is possessed of sentimental traits of high order, which certainly indicate great ten-derness of heart. It is stated that when he received telegraphic advices announcing the destruction by fire of his home in Atchison, instead of an outburst of temper or deplor-ing the loss of his bouse and magnifiing the loss of his bouse and magnifi-cent library, he thought only of the mementoes of family ties which likewise perished, and bemoaned the burning of little toys and trifies be-longing to his children which he had cherished, among other things, he exclaimed: "And just to think that my dead only's little shoes, that I ave taken so much care of, should be burned!"

JAY GOULD is expected home about March 15. He writes that he is "homesick and tired of decayed remnants of ancient nations." His sight-seeing, like that of many other Americans, has been purely mechanical. He saw all he wanted to see of Greece in one day. A scholar would spend six months in Athens alone, and then be satisfied to remain another six months-provided his funds were not exhausted. Gould is the ideal restless American, too busy to take rest, and when health ex-Congressman, died Thursday at demands rest, is too restless to be benefitted by it. Nothing but the tomb-upon which will be inscribed "Overwork," if the dynamiter does not intervene to change the inscription to "assassinated," will bring rest to the restless brain of the great money-getter.

T. B. Wilson, of the Advocate, has been appointed a Justice of the Peace by the county commissioners at Sterling, Logan county, Colorado. Tom is one of V. P. Wilson's boys, of Abilene formerly, and he is a born newspaper man. He is a rollicking good fellow and known in Salina as well as in the "print shops" of many places as full of sunshine and mirth wherever he goes. Tom, we anticipate when your court gets into full sway, some of the newspaper boys will "turn the tables" on you and perpetrate some of your own take-off's on the police courts of other towns and do you up as you deserve, in retalistion.

A PAPER in a western county understands "that Register Beard, of the Wakeoney land office, has received a sitting-down upon at the hands of the Department for the illegal manner in which he has been dispensing the patronage of his office in order to keep up a few pampered Democratic papers in this district." Notices have appeared in particular papers notwithstanding there were papers published fifteen miles nearer the land in questionwhich act is contrary to the rules governing. So, it might seem likely the Register ims been paid a royalty on these publications, as referred to by us some weeks ago. The editor of the Abilene Gazeffe ought to know emething about the matter.

H. H. HAGAS has sold the St. Mary's Express. Mr. Hagan states. that during the six months he conducted the Equess he did not receive a dollar on subscription and only one payment on subscriptions. The Express is a Democratic paper and Mr. Hagan is a brother of Eugene Hagan, the U. S. Assistant District Attorney.

THE ends of divisions of the Missouri Pacific have been located at Fredericks, six miles west of Geneseo, and at Utica, in Ness county, thirty-eight miles west of McCraken. These two constitute the sole terminations of divisions between Salina and Pueblo. Workmen are employed on the round houses and side tracks, and several public enterprises are being started. The McCracken not have been found in Kansas. It is the intention of the town comwestward about ninty miles, where pany to make Utica the best town west of Salina, and it can be done."

THE town of Wallace, west on the Union Pacific in Kansas, congratulates itself on having no saloons. A month ago, says the local paper, they had five saloons. A movement has just been made in court against the saloonkeepers there. J. W.
